

EEO receives Supplier Excellence Award from Lockheed Martin (NYSE: LMT) for performance on the Arrowhead® program

Press Release:

Murrieta, California, November 15, 2007 - Exotic Electro-Optics, Inc. (EEO), a subsidiary of II-VI Incorporated (NASDAQ Global Select: IIVI), announced today that it received a Supplier Excellence Award from Lockheed Martin (NYSE: LMT) for performance on the Arrowhead® program.

The award was accepted at a Lockheed Martin Arrowhead® Supplier Conference by EEO General Manager, Mark Maiberger. "This award is truly an honor for EEO and represents years of hard work to meet our customer requirements and continued support for the Warfighter," he said.

"Receipt of this award demonstrates the importance we place on commitments made by EEO and the support we provide to our customers" said Evan Lundstedt, Director of Programs and Business Development at EEO.

Raymond Rampi, Procurement Manager on the Arrowhead® program commented, "EEO has worked hard to demonstrate performance worthy of this award and we are pleased they have supported this program and our ultimate customer, the Warfighter."

About Arrowhead:

Lockheed Martin's Arrowhead® or Modernized Target Acquisition Designation Sight/Pilot Night Vision Sensor is integrated on AH-64D Apache Helicopters to provide the most advanced electro-optical targeting and pilotage system available to Apache crews for maximizing safe flight in day, night and adverse-weather environments. Arrowhead's® forward-looking infrared sensors use advanced image processing techniques to give pilots the best possible resolution to avoid obstacles during low-level flight.
